How to use list elements

A simple list with bullets in list-item-label

- here is text in the list item body
- here is text in the list item body
- here is text in the list item body
- here is text in the list item body
- here is text in the list item body

```
<!-- list start -->
<fo:list-block>
  <!-- list item -->
  <fo:list-item>
    <!-- insert a bullet -->
    <fo:list-item-label end-indent="label-end()">
      <fo:block>
        <fo:inline font-family="Symbol">&#183;</fo:inline>
      </fo:block>
    </fo:list-item-label>
    <!-- list text -->
    <fo:list-item-body start-indent="body-start()">
      <fo:block>
        here is text in the list item body
      </fo:block>
    </fo:list-item-body>
  </fo:list-item>

  [other list items...]

</fo:list-block>
<!-- end list -->
```

Doing it better

The distance between the bullets and the list text in the example on the previous page is too large. You can define this distance and some more. Here is an overview how to specify what aspects of a list image from the w3c xsl working draft 18.10.2000 (full info in list2.fo)

This is the same list with a defined provisional-distance-between-starts (0.3cm) and provisional-label-separation (0.15cm).

- here is text in the list item body
- here is text in the list item body
- here is text in the list item body

```
<!-- list start -->
<fo:list-block provisional-distance-between-starts="0.3cm" provisional-label-separation="0.15cm">
  <!-- list item -->
  <fo:list-item>
    <!-- insert a bullet -->
    <fo:list-item-label end-indent="label-end()">
      <fo:block>
        <fo:inline font-family="Symbol">&#183;</fo:inline>
      </fo:block>
    </fo:list-item-label>
    <!-- list text -->
    <fo:list-item-body start-indent="body-start()">
      <fo:block>
        here is text in the list item body
      </fo:block>
    </fo:list-item-body>
  </fo:list-item>

  [other list items...]

</fo:list-block>
<!-- end list -->
```
